Cabinet Design Worksheets

Name: _____ Date _____

The following pages are useful to both the client and designer. Kitchens and cabinetry in general are a complex portion of the home and require careful decision making to see a beautiful & functional end result. Filling out this form may take some time and some research and may initially create more questions than answers. This list covers most areas of a home that might require cabinets. Your project may not include all of the ingredients below; you can cross out those items that do not pertain to your particular situation & put a ? next to the unknowns. Many of the details listed will be clarified in the design process.
